Timbercorp Growers Group and Timbercorp Growers Reference Group

In relation to Timbercorp, we understand that many advisers and growers have received requests for financial support from the Timbercorp Growers Group and Timbercorp Growers Reference Group. We understand that the Timbercorp Growers Reference Group has requested funding directly from clients, whereas Timbercorp Growers Group has previously appealed to the advisers. When considering the various requests, and whether or not you wish to provide financial support, you may wish to consider the following questions;

- What are the credentials and experience of the group or association requesting the funds?
- What is the purpose of the funds?
- What is the likelihood of the group being able to achieve its stated objectives?
- Is the money held on trust and for what specific purpose?
- Does the group have a track record of achieving positive results?

If you are unable to answer any of these questions, we encourage you to contact the group or association directly to find out further information enabling you to make a fully informed decision of the suitability of the request and whether or not to support the request for funding.
